

FOR TRYING TO HUG MISS MENDES. When Rebecca Mendes, 19 years old, of Williamsburg, left her house on Sunday morning to go to a grocery in the neighborhood, she was followed by Geo. King, aged 27. He asked her for a kiss, and when she expostulated with him he tried to hug her. Miss Mendes screamed and King made off. In the afternoon he loitered around her house, and the young woman told her brothers. King disappeared before the brothers could get at him.

Miss Mendes and a little niece went out on Monday night to visit relatives in this city. It was late when they reached Williamsburg on their way home. In Grand street, near Driggs avenue, King jumped out from a doorway and told Miss Mendes that he loved her. Miss Mendes and her niece screamed and King ran away. Policeman Latt, of the Bedford avenue station, pursued him to Roebeling and south First streets, where King tried to jump over a fence. On the way to the station house a crowd of people tried to assault the prisoner, and he begged the policeman to protect him. Miss Mendes made a charge of disorderly conduct against King and he was locked up. When he was arraigned in the Lee Avenue Police Court Tuesday morning he told Justice Goetting that he occasionally a desire to kiss women came over him and he could not control it. He was sent to the penitentiary for one year.—New York Sun.
